Dear President,

Call for Applications for free individual subscription for the journal *Clinical Chemistry

As a result of a new collaboration as set out in the Memorandum of Understanding between the publisher of the Clinical Chemistry journal and EFCC, starting from this year, Clinical Chemistry kindly provided EFCC with 10 free individual subscriptions per annum for the duration of the agreement. The aim of the collaboration between EFCC and Clinical Chemistry is to foster education and research of young laboratory professionals, particularly in less advantaged regions (as judged by per capita GDP and PPP) within Europe.

We therefore invite you to nominate one candidate on behalf of your National Society to receive this free annual subscription to Clinical Chemistry for the year of 2011.

Each country should nominate one candidate under the age of 40 years. The nominated candidate should provide a short CV (form attached) and a list of publications. Deadline for applications is 15 June 2010.

Applications should be sent by email to Ana-Maria Simundic (am.simundic@gmail.com), member of the Working Group for Postgraduate Education of the Education and Training Committee of EFCC.

All applications received by the deadline will be ranked by three members of the Committee and successful recipients will be notified and their names will be passed on to the editorial office of Clinical Chemistry.

Applicants will be informed by e-mail about the results of their application no later than 10 July 2010. Successful candidates, eligible for these subscriptions, will receive their login information from Clinical Chemistry directly. The first free subscription period will start from July 2010 and last until December 2011. The duration of all subsequent free subscriptions will be one calendar year.

This opportunity is offered to your Society annually until the expiry and revision date of this mutual agreement of EFCC and Clinical Chemistry (January 1st, 2013). The next call will be announced in October 2011.

Yours sincerely,

Andrea Rita Horvath
EFCC president
